1. Sports Day at Beckton Gasworks, 1940

Photographer: not known

This is a photograph of people at a sports day at Beckton Gasworks. Two men are sitting on the grass. They are wearing waistcoats and have pocket watches. Three women are sitting on chairs in the shade of a gazebo. There is a tablecloth and a teapot on the table and cups and saucers underneath. A woman is holding a cup and saucer. A young girl is sitting on a handcart. A young boy is eating. Everyone is wearing a hat.

2. Coronation. Chandos Road, Stratford, 1953

Photographer: not known

This is a photograph of a street party in Stratford in 1953. The people are celebrating the coronation when Elizabeth I became queen. There are tables joined together in the middle of the road and covered with tablecloths. There are teapots, mugs, cakes and sandwiches. Everyone looks happy and some of the children are wearing party hats. Two children at the front are sitting in high chairs.

3. A Tea Garden, 1790.

Artist: Francois David Soiron

This is an engraving from the eighteenth century. A fashionably dressed family are drinking tea under the shade of a large tree as a waiter behind them fills a teapot. The children play with toys and a dog. One of the toys is a wooden horse. The table is laid with a china tea service. A baby sits on the woman's lap. In the background is a pond and more people. There is a hat on the ground in front of the family.
